HIGH STANDARDS IN THE FOOD & RETAIL INDUSTRY

The food and retail industries have a no-tolerance approach to Health and Safety in and around their premises. When you comply to the highest standards and regulations, everything else falls in place. The result: a cut above the rest.

CLIENT OVERVIEW AND CHALLENGE

When a well-known listed company in the FMCG market, with a variety of food manufacturing and packaging factories as well as retail stores nationally, required a partnership for the long-run, BT-SA was the supplier of choice.

Health and Safety (H&S) plays a very important roll in the daily operations of our client's business and BT-SA has gone the extra mile to ensure that every installation adhere to those standards at all times. As an ICT infrastructure partner, BT-SA got involved at design stage to not only optimise return on investment but give the client peace of mind that all the H&S boxes are ticked.

FACTORY UPGRADE SOLUTION

BT-SA recommended an 10 Gig single mode, multi-core fibre backbone upgrade at four of the client's factories. This project included the design and installation of the network infrastructure as well as any maintenance required in the future.

KEEPING RETAIL STORES CONNECTED

Network connectivity and "up-time" at a retail store is a high priority for any brand. BT-SA was awarded the task to ensure that more than hundred retail stores are always up and running through BT-SA's reliable maintenance teams that are always on hand.

The network requirements for the retail stores are mainly CAT 5 & 6 network cabling. Through BT-SA's end-to-end service offering, we also installing cutting-edge instore surveillance equipment to minimise crime in high risk areas.

BT-SA's national footprint and network of qualified sub-contractors ensured that the roll-out and maintenance of the national retail stores are done in an efficient and professional manner.

"Over the past 7 years, our relationship with BT-SA has grown into a trusted partnership and we know we can depend on their high standards and industry knowledge to only supply us with the best solutions for our business"
